Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 07 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Showers fading to leave a mostly dry night.

This Evening and Tonight:
Any showers will tend to die away through the evening with the cloud thinning and clear spells developing after midnight. This will allow a few mist and fog patches to form in some rural spots before dawn. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Thursday:
Clear spells at first with short-lived mist and fog patches. Scattered showers developing, not as heavy or widespread as Wednesday, with parts of the west staying mostly dry. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Remaining unsettled, with a mixture of sunny spells and heavy, thundery showers throughout. Low cloud perhaps lingering along North Sea coastal areas, especially on Saturday. Temperatures mostly near normal.
